Scare caused by imaginary bomb closes city street

By Steve Marschke

A freeway offramp and several streets were closed, businesses were evacuated and law enforcement and fire officials converged when a man under the influence of narcotics became convinced he was laying on top of an explosive device inside a van Tuesday morning.

The incident occurred at 8:30 a.m. in the parking lot of Vince's Italian Restaurant, 840 Harbor Blvd. (near West Capitol Ave.). Daniel Walrad, 19, was inside a parked van when he said he could not stand up for fear the "bomb" underneath him would then explode. Walrad, of El Cerrito, was with another person at the time.

"Basically, he was under the influence of narcotics," said Lt. Dave Farmer of the West Sacramento Police Department. "He got into his van and believed he was lying on some explosives, and if he got up, they would blow up."

"We had two negotiators talk to the other person, and eventually they persuaded (Walrad) to surrender. He was arrested for possession of a controlled substance. He had some 'crank' in the van."

Because of the perceived bomb threat, emergency response was heavy.

"We had the fire department there, we had ambulance crews, we had at least two CHP officers, seven or eight police officers from the city, and the county arson and bomb unit there," said Farmer. "We closed down Harbor Blvd. from Evergreen to West Capitol and we closed the offramp westbound from I-80 to Harbor for about 45 minutes. We evacuated the (nearby) motel, restaurant, Taco Bell, the Big R Center in back, Huey's across the street, and AM-PM."

The entire incident was over in about an hour.

Harbor Blvd. project faces further delay

By Steve Marschke

The ambitious expansion of Harbor Blvd. north of West Capitol Ave. will not be finished in 1995, but city officials hope to open the street to unrestricted two-way traffic by Dec. 11.

This news was conveyed to local business people by Steve Roberts, executive director of the chamber of commerce, in a Nov. 27 letter. The street is currently closed to through-traffic, although businesses on the road are feeling the pinch of lower sales due to the access problems created by the street-widening.

"The good news is the Planning Department has assured us they are doing everything to open Harbor Boulevard to two-way traffic before the project is completed -- certainly for the Christmas shopping season," Roberts stated.

Roberts acknowledged the hardship the project was creating.

"Another few months could be catastrophic to business, yet the project, when completed will positively enhance business," he wrote.

Police strategy to target customers of local hookers gets under way

By Steve Marschke

West Sacramento police have started implementing their new method of combating local prostitution by citing the male customers of the prostitutes. The deliberately-high profile campaign will also try to educate and scare these "johns" away from looking for prostitutes in West Sacramento, thus drying up the customer base for the illegal trade.

"We've come to realize that we can't really make an impression on prostitutes -- they regard this as a cost of doing business," said Sgt. Ray Hensley. "We could arrest 30 prostitutes tonight, and 29 of them will be out on the street again tomorrow."

Because soliciting is a misdemeanor, and the hookers are usually cited and released, they generally spend little time in jail until they miss several court appearances, accumulate several arrest warrants, and are caught. Then they serve some time, dry up from their drug habits, and are released.

Then they go back into the cycle of drugs and prostitution.

Drugs are at the center of the problem, said Hensley.

"Probably 85 percent of them are heroin addicts. The rest are on cocaine or methamphetamines. There's no 'Pretty Woman' scenario here," he added, referring to the movie which starred Julia Roberts as a diamond-in-the-rough call girl. "These aren't uptown call girls."

West Sacramento's hookers tend to be in poor health -- many with communicable diseases -- and typically perform sex acts for $20 to support a drug addiction.

Hensley said the department has performed three sweeps using decoys to catch the prostitutes' customers. At one location, they arrested seven or eight "johns" each time, catching the banter between the decoy and the customer on tape.

Another sweep is scheduled for an evening later this week.

The sweeps borrow from the familiar "Sobriety Checkpoint" strategy, even using a street sign to warn (and hopefully scare away) would-be shoppers for flesh.

"Police decoy operation in progress," the sign says in part.

Hensley said that the johns tend to be surprising "average" men, making them vulnerable to police efforts. When they are arrested, their car is towed, and the registered owner is mailed a letter detailing the circumstances of the car's towing.

This occurs even if the registered owner happens to be a spouse.

Police will send a letter to the suspect's home as well, warning him of the dangers of AIDS and

Commentary from the mayor:

We need to make cuts in road service

By Greg Potnick
Mayor of
West Sacramento

There has been much discussion lately about the status of the Road fund and the City's ability to adequately maintain its streets. the truth is that the Road Fund is in trouble, and even though petitions have been circulated, letters have been sent and telephone calls have been made in opposition to any reduction of service, something must be done to ensure that the essential street maintenance functions are accomplished within a balanced budget. This article will address that issue.

City street maintenance functions are funded through the Road Fund which is primarily financed by two revenue sources: gas tax and surplus transit funds. Recently, a sharp decline has been experienced in both of these sources.

Gas tax is apportioned based on population. For the first eight years following incorporation, new cities are allowed to use the higher of three times the registered voters, or actual population figures for purposes of gas tax revenue disbursement. In the case of West Sacramento, three times the number of registered voters was considerably higher and as a result, we enjoyed an inflated revenue stream for that period.

MAYOR GREG POTNICK

As of January 1995, the basis for determining gas tax revenue disbursement reverted to actual population. The resulting ongoing reduction to this funding stream is approximately $215,000 less per year, which is a reduction of about one-third.

A lesser source of funding is surplus transit revenue. State law allows transit funds that are in excess of those needed for transit purposes to be used for road maintenance or construction. for several years following incorporation, a considerable surplus did exist. However, as unmet transit needs have been identified and subsequently, met less money has become available as surplus. Although transit services to the community have improved significantly, the surplus of the past has all but disappeared. Even with implementation of the minor reductions in bus service currently being considered, surplus transit funds for fiscal year 1995/96 are expected to be significantly less than previous years.

As a result of these decreases, revenues are no longer adequate to support the level of activity previously funded. The fiscal year 1995/96 budget projects an annual deficit of $163,500. Although every effort was made to address this imbalance within the current operational structure, it become obvious that the only way to adjust to a protected deficit of this magnitude was to make significant structural changes that would reduce ongoing expenses.

The City Council considered a plan to address this deficit during their July 19, 1995 meeting. Several actions were initiated, including reduction of street sweeping services and of overtime and extra help, but those cuts only resulted in a savings of about $40,000. An imbalance of approximately $123,500 remains.

With the easier cuts having been accomplished, the only methods remaining to balance the Road Fund Budget are to use other funding sources or to reduce staffing levels. Unfortunately, the opportunity for use of other funding sources is severely limited. Legal restrictions prevent the use of Enterprise funds for that purpose, and the General fund which finances Police, Fire, and Parks and Community Services is stretched to its capacity. In fact, several per

Demolition begins on Broderick property

By Steve Marschke

The old Broderick Market near Fourth and West Capitol is no more.

A Sacramento firm has levelled the building and will shortly raze two nearby structures also acquired by the West Sacramento Redevelopment Agency in its quest to lessen blight near the planned Raley's Landing development.

P & P Demolition won a $65,000 contract from the public agency to complete the demolition.

While the city redevelopment agency now has possession of the parcels (five in all), both their puchase price and their right to force the sale are still being litigated. Members of the Kwong and Wentz families, which own the parcels, are contesting both points.

Meanwhile, the redevelopment agency has deposited about $1.2 million in trust to pay for the acquisition.

"We deposited with the court the probable compensation, which is the appraised value of the land," said Les Bowman of the redevelopment agency.

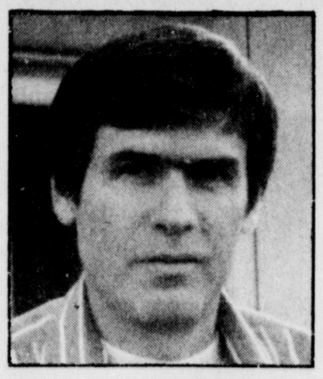
Words in a letter can do as much damage as bullets

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

It was almost midnight on the day before Thanksgiving, 1969, and I was putting the finishing touches on a letter back to the world when Jim suddenly stumbled awkwardly into my hootch and propped himself up against one of the walls. He was obviously drunk, or high, or both, and his short, wobbly legs looked like they were just about to give out on him.

"Every damn time I come in here," he said, his words slurred, "you're writing a stupid letter."

"Are you alright?" I asked him with concern, having never seen my squad leader so out of control before.

As he started to answer, the balancing act he was trying to pull off came to an abrupt end and he crumbled to the floor right in front of me. I jumped up and struggled to get him back on his feet and onto my bunk. He still had on his dirty fatigues and mud-caked combat boots from our day-long search and destroy mission.

"Leave me alone," he shouted as he shook himself free from my grip and staggered to his feet. "And screw you and all your damn letters," he added as he took a giant step towards the door, only to collapse again onto the floor.

I grabbed him under the shoulders and finally managed to get him seated on the foot of my bunk. He rummaged around in a thigh pocket and pulled out a plastic bag full of marijuana. "Old mama-san turned me on to some really good grass," he mumbled. "Want some?"

"What's got into you, Jim?" I asked, still not believing that the bravest man I had met in Vietnam was suddenly acting like a teenage kid who had spent too much time at a fraternity party.

"What's the matter?"

"There's nothing the matter," he shot back as he tugged at his fatigue collar. "And just mind your own damn business, okay?" he added as his lower lip began to quiver.

When he started to cry, I instinctively put my arm around his shoulder, only to have him quickly throw it off. Then he yanked a crumpled letter out of nowhere and shoved it into my stomach. "Go ahead," he blurted out, "read the damn thing. Go on, read it!"

"Who's it from," I finally managed to say.

"That's the problem," he said. "I don't know who it's from."

Totally confused, I began to read the letter, and it only took me a few sentences to understand why he was so upset. "Is this someone's idea of a joke?" I asked him in disbelief.

"That's what I thought at first," he answered, his voice full of pain, "but this is the third one."

"You don't recognize the handwriting or anything?" I asked.

"No."

"Have you told the major, or the first sergeant?"

"Are you kidding?"

"You gotta tell someone, Jim."

"I just told you, didn't I?"

"But maybe the major or the first sergeant can fix you up with a Mars call to your wife or something?"

He shook his head no. "I don't want to talk to her. What in the hell would I say? Is it true that you're screwing around with some sick-o who's writing me all about it?" He swallowed hard, angry with himself for not being able to control his emotions.

"When's the last time you heard from her?" I asked.

"A few weeks before these damn things started coming I guess."

"Have you written to her about it?"

"Sure. A half-dozen times, but I haven't gotten anything back."

"You've got to call her, Jim."

He stared off into space, slowly shaking his head from side to side. "No, it's all true. That guy knows everything about her, and he couldn't know the things he's been putting in these letters if he wasn't sleeping with her -- no way -- not in a hundred years. Plus where else could he have got the address?" The tears began rolling freely down his still camouflaged cheeks. "I guess I should have known better," he continued, his voice cracking. "It's not like I didn't know she had this kind of crap in her. I should have never let myself believe she could wait a whole year." He took a long, deep breath and then softly added, "Sandy's not very strong, you know. Maybe I should have written her more often? But I'm not very good with words. I don't know. I guess it's just as much my fault as it is hers."

He reached over, took the letter back, and made me swear not to mention our conversation to anyone else in the platoon. "I won't say a word," I promised.

"I just love her so much," he said as he placed his elbows on his knees and dropped his head into his huge, strong hands. "She's the only person in this whole screwed-up world I've ever really cared about. She means everything to me. Knowing she was waiting is what's kept me going over here. What am I going to do now? I've got almost four months of all this damn fighting and dying to go. What am I going to do without her?"

When the job's tough and the dames are cool, call Smoot, P.I.

T.J. Smoot

It was foggy and dark in the city by the river. The white stuff filtered the orange lamplight across the street until it glowed like an orange moon. In the distance I heard a ship in the deep water channel blastin' away at its fog horn like there was no tomorrow. Those vapors hid my neighbors' houses like a misty, fluffy blanket, and even though I was in the middle of Yolo suburbia, I still felt alone. That was O.K. by me though, 'cause I was T.J. Smoot: P.I.

Tonight I was mindin' my own business, sittin' at my WWII metal desk, shufflin' through bills I hadn't paid yet. Pac Bell, PG&E, cable, and a late bill from the Ledger. My checkbook had enough red in it to be a '49er flag. No way was I goin' to pay these bills today. I shoved them aside and stared through the dimly lit room to the foggy lane outside.

Suddenly, I heard footsteps coming down the hallway. They paused. Then SHE walked in. Teal stiletto heels. This dame always wore them. Her sea green gown made her hazel eyes sparkle like Emerald Bay on a lazy summer afternoon. I braced myself. This dame and I had some history before. I knew what sort of thing she wanted from me and that her request wouldn't be easy. Her pay was O.K, I 'spose. I guess you could say she made me offers I just couldn't refuse. Our eyes met. Hers glistened, and I watched, mesmerized as her muted burgundy lips danced around a wad of gum. She spoke those magic words.

"You're T.J. Smoot, P.I. extraordinaire?"

I faltered and bit my lip. "You know it, babe. What's up dis time?" I hoped for the best, but expected the worse.

"You're the only one for what

Steve Young came back last Sunday after five weeks on the injured list to lead the 49ers to a 41-13 victory over the St. Louis Lambs.

Young struggled from the start, throwing an interception on his first attempt, but finished the game strong, completing 21 of 32 passes for 226 yards and three touchdowns. The rookie first round draft choice J.J. Stokes finally became part of the 49ers offense, catching five passes for 65 yards and two touchdowns.

Look out, NFL teams, here comes Rice, Taylor, Jones and Stokes running pass patterns for Young!

The 49ers (8-4), moved into first place in the Western Division as the Rams fell to 6-6 and Atlanta (7-5) lost in overtime to Arizona 40-37. The 49ers host Buffalo next Sunday at 3Com Park.

49ers 28, Bills 10.

The Raiders (8-4) lost the battle of the field goals on Monday to the Chargers, 12-6. The Raiders played without QB Jeff Hostetler, who may return next Sunday for the big game against the Kansas City (10-2). The Raiders committed six penalties for 60 yards and had four turnovers. The Raiders will bounce back this week and beat the Chiefs. Oakland 27, Kansas City 17.

The Sacramento Kings (9-4) remain in first place in the Western Division after beating New Jersey 99-92 last Sunday. The Kings will dig in for a long homestand that will tell us if they really are a playoff team or just a lucky bunch of basketball players. The Kings will pay seven home games against last year's playoff teams, starting on Tuesday against Denver (4-8), then Thursday the Pacers (5-5) and the Kings will square off again!

On Saturday, the Orland Magic, without Shaq, will come to town for a big test of power.

The Kings will have five days off before Seattle, Miami and the defending NBA champion Houston Rockets come to town on December 12.

The Kings' biggest question is, "Who should be the point guard?" Tyus Edney or Bobby Hurley?

This next homestand should answer that question. If not, look for the Kings to make a trade when Corliss Williamson returns from the injured list.

The Kings' defense is the big reason they are winning, as opponents have not reached 100 points in eight of the first 13 games! The Kings are 7-1 in those games!

See ya next week!!

I need to have done." She quietly turned away and gazed through the greasy window to the mist outside. I slowly pulled open my center desk drawer, scooted my half-eaten, smashed meatloaf sandwich to the side and reached for my snub-nosed pencil.

"I need your services...." She chewed some more and gazed at me with those baby greens. My mind went blank. "I do have some information for you to start with." A bead of sweat rolled down my neck. She tossed her shoulder length hair to one side and smiled at me. I gulped and shifted in my seat. "Yeah, like what?" I nervously adjusted my thrift store tie.

She went on to explain her assignment in every detail, and I wrote furiously, trying to get every word. As she spoke, she occasionally shifted her weight back and forth from one foot to the other. Her Parisian perfume wafted through the office, overwhelming me like a charm. She continued with her clues, and when she was done, she was happy.

"I'm glad that you have this information now, Mr. Smoot. I have every confidence in your detective skills," she smiled.

"Hrmmpf." I mumbled, somewhat unhappy with my objective. Mrs. Smoot swished away, and I looked at my notes: Milk, diapers, baby wipes, bananas and cookies. Just then I heard that ship bleatin' like a bull elephant, and I paused to listen. I shook my head, grabbed my fedora and raincoat and headed out the door to my '50 Chevy coupe, glad that Raley's was only minutes away.

OPINION

News-Ledger Editorial

Mixed bag of comments

You can tell a lot about a town by looking at its store shelves.

One minor way you can use this method is to look at what the gas station minimarts offer their customers in the way of merchandise. Aside from the usual array of junk food, West Sacramento gas station markets tend to lean heavily on items such as Bud Lite beer, malt liquor and condoms.

Check out the Chevron in South Davis, by way of contrast:

Clerks at the station won't check your oil or clean your windows (a practice almost universally out of fashion), but they can sell you a "microbrewery" beer or whip you up a fresh cappucino or latte from the espresso bar.

Can you picture an espresso bar at the West Capitol Ave. Exxon or BP station?

Speaking of merchandise not available in West Sacramento:

Woodland has a new retaurant, fronted in bright orange and pink. It is called, simply, "Asian Food and Pizza."

On the topic of merchandise that is available in West Sacramento, but not altogether welcome:

Police are on the right track with the new anti-prostitution effort which targets the customers of local prostitutes, trying to discourage them from shopping for flesh in West Sacramento.

Previous anti-streetwalker efforts failed because it is difficult for the justice system to inconvenience the hookers enough to force them to change their location or their occupation.

The new approach will try to dry up the demand for the hookers, under the theory that the "average guy" looking for sex on West Capitol can be inconvenienced and embarrased into changing his habits.

If we're patient and determined, the new tactics will work. The prostitution trade will be significantly damaged.

Help swimmers

Christmas is fast approaching and the West Sacramento Dolphins Swim Team needs your help.

The Dolphins are a non-profit organization that has served the youth of West Sacramento since 1990.

Our swimmers range in age from four to 18 years. Each year we enroll around 100 swimmers.

This Christmas we are asking people in the West Sacramento community to donate money to the team so we can purchase 20 new stop watches for the '96' season.

Each watch costs approximately twenty dollars and your donation is tax deductible.

Any donations you can contribute will ensure that our children will have new equipment to start our '96' "Summer of Fun" season.

Your donation to the West Sacramento swim team is a direct investment in the quality of life in our community and will have a lasting benefit to our young people.

Thank you for caring. Please respond as generously as you can by calling Barry at 371-6053.

City hall

At City Hall several public hearings are on tap for the next month, during which time many of us will be using said time for Christmas shopping; nonetheless, we should take note:

1) Tuesday, December 5, at 2 p.m.: Yolo County Transit Authority/YCTA to hold public hearing proposing that we: (a) the #39's north loop of mid-day service -- north of Jefferson Blvd. be eliminated; (b) that the eight mid-day runs be cut to four runs from 10 a.m. to 2:07 p.m.; (c) re-route #39 to downtown Sacramento and (d) elimination of the Saturday service of #39's service to/from Southport.

On the surface, this raises some serious questions: (a) With no service on Jefferson Blvd. north of West Capitol Avenue, that means no service to/from our new county offices and our new police station near the Sonic Cable TV offices, unless YCTA has other plans to replace existing service; (b) Those eight midday Southport (low ridership) runs should be changed from hourly to every other hour with alternate buses providing bihourly service to/from our industrial area, including the big post office and our Social Security office. Routing should include local West Sacramento stops to equal a revised #242...present routing equals, "West Sacramento jobs for Sacramentans only." If re-routing means just to/from Southport/downtown Sacramento only, this cuts out bus service on Park Blvd. and Stone Blvd., including City Hall, except for the #41's limited service to/from City Hall...no midday service; (d) Cutting out Southport's Saturday service -- due to ridership -- is another move in the wrong direction. This should be handled like (b) above.

Since traffic flow is the key as to if and when more construction is allowed in Southport (before we have another bridge or a widening of existing 2-lane Jefferson Blvd. bridge), we should be taking positive steps to improve bus service, including 6:(?) and 9:(?) p.m. "10 minute Southport loops off the later #41's," as noted 2 letters ago. If one desires a copy of proposed #39 changes, one should call Mr. Brian Nakamura, YCTA, at 661-0816 for same.

2) Wednesday, December 6, City Hall, we will have a public hearing regarding proposed increases, mainly sewer, from $5.45 hikes for "single family" to $52.17 hikes for industrial users. That's just under a 50 percent hike for homes to nearly a 100 percent hike for industrial users. Would such increases bring rates to nearly the same level as we would pay to ship our partially-treated waste to Elk Grove as the alternative to a new plant in Southport? How much goes to pay those fines totaling $350,000.00 because the State found we were "below part" right at the time West Sacramento was trying to compete with our Capitol for new state office buildings?

3) Approval of the Money Store's proposed multi-story office building on Raley's Landing property. Sounds like a winner since it should cause other development, more jobs, better tax base, and a more diversified West Sacramento.

Several other items are scheduled for public hearings on the 6th or later in December, 1995. The 6th sounds like a long night unless we rush through or reschedule many items. See ya.

sonnel cuts have been necessary over the past couple of years to balance the General Fund. Reduction of staffing levels appears to be the only viable solution.

Coincidental to the timing of this shortfall in the Road Fund, an Operational Analysis of the Public Works Department has been underway. Having taken into account the funding problems within the Road Fund, several suggested organizational changes were made as part of that analysis that would enable the functions of the Street Maintenance Division to be performed more efficiently. These changes include reduction of the Street Maintenance crew from seven to three and creation of a new Utilities and Street Maintenance Section. The new section would combine what used to be two separate divisions into one unit, supervised by a single Maintenance Manager instead of two Superintendents. These changes will result in the cost savings necessary to balance the Road Fund Budget while maintaining utility and street maintenance capability sufficient to adequately service the community.

The major difference will likely be the speed at which non-safety related problems are able to be corrected. Pot holes will still be repaired, gutters will still be cleared during rain storms and stop signs will continue to be installed. The street crew will continue to function; unfortunately with fewer people. When the needs dictates, such as during heavy rains, the Street crew will be backed up by the nine member Utility Maintenance crew and the eight member Parks Maintenance crew, as they have been in the past.

In order to lessen the impact of this reorganization on those whose positions may be eliminated, it is intended that no layoffs take place prior to July 1996. This delay will allow those who will likely be displaced to apply for other positions that are made available through reorganization or by attrition between now and then.

Mr. Mesquita reels in Staff of the Month

By Mirthala Santizo
Staff Writer

Who is infamous for wearing clothes the color of mulch? Likes the color brown? Wears polo shirts all the time? Mr. Mesquita. He is also guilty of being October's Staff of Month.

Mr. Mesquita has taught here for 24 years. He currently teaches political science and has also taught biology, government and U.S. history. Mesquita wanted to teach political science because he said that teaching the law is important.

For that same reason Mr. Mesquita has coached the Mock Trial team for eight years. "It's because of Mr. Mesquita and teachers like him that made me want to further my education." said Ty Fisher, a Mock Trial lawyer. "He's a good teacher that and a great person who commands respect."

Political science is not the only thing Mr. Mesquita likes to talk about; he also likes to talk about his hobbies. Fly fishing has been one of his favorite pastimes, especially when his picture appeared in Fly Fishing magazine for catching a big trout in Montana, his favorite fishing place. Mr. Mesquita also likes to read and collect things including books on fly fishing, American folk art, and military memorabilia. He travels often to New England where he is able to buy more to expand his collections.

Many students have asked the burning question, "Why is Mesquita pronounced Mesquit?" and the answer is because it is Portuguese and the "A" is silent. His name means "little mosque" which derives from the history of Portugal at the period when the Moors controlled the Iberian Peninsula.

Busy Senior Wins Raider of the Month

By Mirthala Santizo
Staff Writer

R.C. senior class secretary Celina Flores is a very busy person. This year she is very active in class activities, volleyball, Renaissance, Link Crew, and Upward Bound. She also does basketball stats and now she's October's Raider of the Month.

Celina's most memorable times at R.C. were when the class of '96 won the spirit wheel for the last two years. She also said that just being a senior will be a memorable time in her life.

Celina stayed at U.C. Davis for six weeks this last summer taking classes that will help her in the future. One of the classes was a senior preparatory for college. It was to help her prepare for college and tell her the things she should do during her senior year. "It's a great program." said Celina, "People should join because its beneficial." With Upward Bound she was able to go to Ashland, Oregon, to see Shakespearean plays, Sequioa Lake, to go camping, and take numerous tours to colleges.

Celina likes playing volleyball and also softball for R.C. She's been playing volleyball for two years and softball for three years. "I like volleyball because we worked hard this year and we won," she said. Besides the sports and clubs, Celina is very family-oriented and likes spending time with her family. Baby-sitting is also another thing she likes to do because she likes being with kids.

In the future, Celina plans to go to U.C. Davis and pursue a career in the medical field.

Students like Mike for Number 1 Raider

By Mirthala Santizo
Staff Writer

Michael Holton, a senior football player, is October's Raider of the Month. He has been playing football for two years and has wrestled for four years. "It is hard, but it pays off after awhile," he said about his number one sport, wrestling.

Being active in school does not stop Michael from enjoying life outside of school. Snowboarding is one of his favorite things to do. For the last five years he's snowboarded at Donner and Sugar Bowl ski resorts. "I like snowboarding because it's fun and it's a challenge," he explained. He also likes riding motorcycles in his spare time.

In addition to being active outside of school, he's also working hard inside the classroom. His classes are English 121, Woodshop 3/4, Algebra II, Government/Economics, PE Weights, and he's a teacher assistant for Mrs. DeCorse. The classes he likes best are Government/Economics and PE Weights.

After these four years at RC he plans to go to American River College for two years and get his general education. From there he will transfer to Cal Poly and get his masters degree in structural engineering.

Michael worked at Club Pheasant during this last summer, but because the school year began, he no longer works there so that it doesn't interfere with school.

Students experiencing college level education in AP classes

Calculus, U.S. History, Government, Art, and French among them

By Bethany Monroe
Staff Writer

This year, River City High School is offering seven advanced placement classes. An advanced placement class is an in-depth course that is taught at college level. An optional examination is given each spring which may qualify students for college credit.

Josh Cox, an advanced placement U.S. History student, says, "The purpose of an advanced placement class is to take college level exams and to have an atmosphere of a college course. The real reason to take an advanced placement class is to take the exam for that course, and if one passes that exam, they don't have to take that course in college."

For the past five years, River City has had two advanced placement classes, English 12 and Calculus. Although these classes have been taught for several years, the instructors of these classes learn more each year on how to teach the class. This will hopefully increase the passing rate.

Miss Hines, the advanced placement Calculus teacher, says that one thing she would like to acquire this year is the technology, such as understanding and learning how to use the graphing calculators.

Now, River City is offering AP United States History, United States Government, Civics, Art, French IV, and Spanish IV. Since this is the first year for these classes, teachers and students have to work extra hard. Many teachers spend extra time preparing work for their classes, trying to structure the class at college level.

Mr. Shumacher says that he is glad that he gets to teach students that really love art, and he wants the students to develop high quality work. He says, "I will be happy if three students pass the test." The test is actually based on a presented portfolio.

Mrs. Carlisle, who teaches United States History, says, "I just want a child attending River City to have the same opportunities as a child at a rich school. The student should have a sense of confidence because they accepted the challenge."

To offer an advanced placement class is very expensive. It is an accomplishment to have seven AP classes at River City. Statistics show 7% of American students take advanced placement classes. There are 99 AP enrollments at R.C. this year. This means that River City students are able to receive the same education as any student in the United States.

Seniors try college life

By Judith Zaragoza
Staff Writer

Seniors took a bite out of fear! From November 6-21 groups of seniors from Ms. Blount's 12th grade English classes traveled to colleges to look at campus life.

They discovered how life is on a college campus, having a busy day in the cafeteria, studying really hard at the library or just having fun in and out of classes. Seniors presented their wonderful and exciting projects on November 27. Ms. Blount said, "Take away the fear of going to the unknown. It's the same fear of 8th graders coming to high school."

Last quarter it was the senior square: funny, realistic, daring posters, posted in the hallway for Back-To-School Night. Most posters were about achievement and victory: "Accept the challenge so you can feel the exhilaration of victory," "Achieving starts with believing," "First comes the dream, then comes the victory." They were designed to provide motivation not just to seniors, but to the whole school.

Ms. Blount's classes will be doing senior projects every quarter, and not just the seniors are enthusiastic. Lots of other students want to know what's up.

Basketball shoots for a top spot

By Khaled Dastagirzada
Staff Writer

The basketball season just got under way. Two '95 graduates, Zac Salvo and Carlos Aguilar, are considered big losses from the team.

Last year the team ended the season with a record of 17-10 (11-3 league). They advanced to the playoffs, but unfortunately lost in the first round against San Juan.

"I think the team will do fairly well this year, competing for the league championship," said Coach West. Coach West doesn't like setting long term goals. "I like to set team goals per game. We'd like to try and accomplish a certain number of points, rebounds, etcetera, for the next game. We take one game at a time and set short-term goals instead of long-term goals," said Coach West.

In order for the basketball team, or any team for that matter, to do well they need some encouragement from the fans. "We'd like to invite the fans to come down and watch us play. We play exciting basketball. It's great entertainment, so come out and support us," said Coach West.

PEER trips teach skills

By Raquel De La Paz
Staff Writer

The PEER Club, for women seeking non-traditional careers, has attended two field trips this year, to American River College and to Cosumnes River College.

On the trip to American River the girls got to do hands-on activities supervised by electronics engineers and a few of the students who attend the school. They made circuit boards and learned new terms and uses for parts in the electronics field. They also got to speak to other women who followed their dream of a non-traditional career.

On the trip to Cosumnes, the girls got the grand tour. They saw many different fields in vocational education. The school has many programs such as a great automotive program and a program for environmental technicians. Even the photography program is really advanced.

PEER members were really glad to get some helpful information about the educational opportunities out there for them. Sheena Aiello, a member who went on both trips said, "It was great. We finally got to get down and dirty and get information that was going to help us in our goals."

Wrestling team shows promise

By Khaled Dastagirzada
Staff Writer

Coach Clint Brill has a lot of confidence in this year's wrestling team. Last year's team finished the season with a record of 9-5. The wrestling team will do a lot better this year according to Coach Brill. "This year's team should prove to be our strongest team ever. They give good work ethics, a lot of dedication, and a lot of sweat. I look forward to this season," he said.

A big loss from the wrestling team was Terry Warford who graduated last year. Otherwise it seems as if the team is in very good shape.

One question remains: Are there any girls on the team? "I don't know yet," said Coach Brill. What he meant by that was he doesn't know if they will stay on the team. "The girls get too much publicity. What happened to that equal rights thing? The girls shouldn't get more recognition than the boys. The newspapers always come out and interview them, and they quit on me. The guys that work hard throughout the season get no recognition," he said.

"Our goal is to become stronger, quicker, and smarter than our opponents through hard work," said coach Brill.

Grades are on the road to improvement

By Rishi Sharma
Staff Writer

River City's first quarter grades are showing improvement. In the first quarter of the school year, River City students raised the mean GPA by .8 points. The total number of A's increased by 1.5%, B's by 2%, and C's by .2%. The total number of D's and F's fell by .65% and 1.2%, respectively.

In response to the surge in grades, Dr. Donna White, school principal, said, "The students at River City are intelligent and capable of getting good grades. It's time for them to believe in themselves and get A's."

Leticia Farris, sophomore, remarked, "It's about time we started to show our potential."

There is some bad news along with these improvements. 40 freshmen out of a class of 355 received three or more F's at the quarter. Dr. White says she and the counselors are working on addressing the problem with small group sessions and grade checks.

Dr. White is satisfied with attendance increase

By Rishi Sharma
Staff Writer

Great news about first quarter attendance! Dr. Donna White, school principal, has announced that there was a 44.2% drop in unexcused absences from the 1993-94 school year. She also reported a 21.1% drop in unexcused absences from the 1994-95 school year.

This data, based on first quarter attendance totals, shows 543 unexcused days in 1993-94, 389 in 1994-95, and 303 this year. Dr. White, enthusiastic about these results, said, "I'm excited about our improved attendance and hope to see it continue. Students can't learn if they don't attend."

However early this data may be, it is a sign that overall attendance is improving dramatically at River City. It is hoped this trend will continue for the rest of the year.

Female athlete expresses outrage over Coach Brill's comments

By Jessica Honsinger
Staff Writer

It's about time for girls to get the respect for playing sports that we deserve. The big three sports at this school, and at schools all across the country, are football, MEN'S basketball, and baseball. How often do you hear about a woman football player? How about a world famous woman basketball player? Women at one time had their own baseball league; what happened to it? Men's sports took over once again, and women athletes, the exception being golfers, were kicked off of the field and out of the court.

Now, I'll play my sport anyway, support or not. There are a lot of girls at this school who feel the same way, who will get out and play for the sheer love of the sport. Unfortunately, some people don't understand the love we feel when we play.

Wrestling coach Clint Brill said, "The girls get too much publicity. What happened to the equal rights thing? The girls shouldn't get more recognition than the boys. The newspapers always come out and interview them, and they quit on me. The guys that work hard throughout the season get no recognition." Excuse me? One of last year's best wrestlers was Ms. Leslie Lamkin, and she stayed on the team for the whole season. Two of this year's wrestlers are Jennifer Hernandez and Sarah Vanderford. Now, I don't know Jennifer well, but I can personally vouch that Sarah is a dedicated athlete who will stick to a sport once she starts.

I don't want you all to get the idea that I'm some sort of feminist freak. I think that men and women should be separated in some things. I mean, let's face it. Shannon Faulkner was way out of line in trying to get into the Citadel without meeting the required physical conditions. But face it, guys, GIRLS CAN PLAY SPORTS. The sooner people realize this, the sooner we can get back to the important thing: playing.

EUREKA helps career planners

By Rishi Sharma
Staff Writer

Need information on a college or university? Well, the RC Career Center has news for you. Instead of looking through countless catalogs for information, students can now access information from a computer on nearly every kind of school throughout the entire state. This program, called EUREKA, enables students to access a vast database of information on most schools in California.

Another program, called School Search, enables students to access information, much like EUREKA, but has a database comprised of schools from all over the country.

The Career Center is receiving new catalogs from colleges and universities. It is also expanding its library of information. As well, the Career Center is attempting to get information on trade schools since EUREKA and School Search does not have enough information on trade schools.

The Career Path Program will also be continuing this year much like last year. As well, many red career path students are in career integration programs. This program brings the career path right into the classroom. Using engineering, principles of technology, and special English and math courses, students are able to get hands-on training with their career path, and will have a better chance of retaining the information for future application. Ms. Rodland hopes that more of these programs can be integrated in the future.

Foreign language students say adios and au revoir to RC

By Fouzia Fazel
Staff Writer

Do you need a vacation? Are you stressed out from all your schoolwork? Well, next summer you'll have a chance to get away from the every day stress and drama. River City students will have a rare chance to visit Europe. They'll fly to Paris, where they'll visit the Louvre and Notre Dame. They'll then proceed to Toulouse, Carcassonne and Barcelona, where they'll visit the Pueblo Espanol. Next they'll transfer to Madrid, where they'll visit the Royal Palace and the Prado. There will be more optional sightseeing throughout their stay.

"I think this is a marvelous opportunity for students to travel to France and Spain, to experience two distinctly different cultures, make new friends and practice their French or Spanish in the homelands of these languages," stated Mrs. Furlong, who will be hosting this trip with Mrs. Aldrete and Mr. Gallego.

This exciting journey takes place June 10th through June 20th. The approximate cost will be $1580. There will be fundraising, such as carwashes and other means to help pay for the cost.

If you are interested in going to France and Spain, contact one of the above-named teachers.

Thanksgiving, 3 days of feasting and praying?

By Carol Avina & Rishi Sharma
Staff Writers

Thanksgiving has become a holiday of feasting on turkey, pumpkin pie, and other high fat foods while watching football games, and long colorfull parades.

Thanksgiving hasn't always been this way. About 300 years ago, Thanksgiving involved 3 days of feasting and prayer. It was a religious holiday thanking god for good crops and a successful year. In fact, Thanksgiving was celebrated in the form of harvest-home celebrations in England long before Europeans even knew the Indians existed.

Thanksgiving gained prominence in the United States when President George Washington declared it a national holiday to be celebrated on November 26. President Abraham Lincoln changed the day to the last Thursday of November.

Most students look forward to Thanksgiving as a time away from school. However, a few students did remain on campus. Many sports were still practicing, and the yearbook and journalism classes were busy getting their productions ready for publication. Ms. Blount, remarking about Thanksgiving vacation, said, "There is no difference because yearbook deadlines are still due."

Thanksgiving does offer a welcomed vacation from the hectic life of school. The journalism class hopes that all of River City's staff and students enjoyed the Thanksgiving holiday.

Soccer season finished strongly

By Khaled Dastagirzada
Staff Writer

Although the record may not show it, the soccer team ended the season well, according to coach Restivo. "We played well, good soccer. We finished off the season strongly defeating second place Lincoln (2-1)," he said

They finished the season with a record of 6-8.

Players Fermin Bedolla, Anesh Singh, Chan Saecho, and Gary Manasero will graduate this year and they are considered major losses.

"Our goal for the future is to come together as a team sooner, and raise the level of commitment," said coach Restivo.

RC welcomes two exchange students

By Jessica Honsinger
Staff Writer

Imagine yourself in this scenario: You are seventeen years old. You have been on an airplane for over fifteen hours. You have just been thrust into a brand new culture at a very hectic airport, all to spend a school year in a strange little city that you've never heard of. Could you imagine it? Well, for two River City seniors, this is reality. Tanya Cukon and Christian Tillmans are spending a year in West Sacramento, attending R.C.H.S., and getting used to America. This month, we'll talk about Tanya.

Tanya Cukon is from Pula, Croatia, a town near the coast of the Adriatic Sea. This seventeen-year-old wanted to spend her senior year in America to get experience in life and to be aquainted with a different culture. While in school here, Tanya is a member of Renaissance (silver level), is on River City's Mock Trial team, and come spring, will be on River City's swim team.

Tanya's likes and dislikes about America are similar to Americans'. She likes the food, and she really likes the malls, because Croatia doesn't have them. Tanya has no major dislikes about the U.S.

Similarities and differences, however, are a completely different story. One major difference is between schools here and schools in Croatia. In Croatia, students have a mandatory sixteen classes a week, with optional electives coming afterwards. Students stay in the same classroom with the same people all through high school, with the teachers coming to them. The student-teacher relationship is completely different in America than in Croatia. In America, the relationship is more like a friendship, and the students are far more open to the teachers here.

Tanya's strangest experience in America (so far) has been Halloween, since there is nothing like it anywhere in Europe. She is only worried about one thing while in America, and it isn't ghosts or goblins. Tanya doesn't know if her relationships with friends and family will be the same. One thing is for sure, though. Tanya has made a lot of friends in America, and will continue to as the year moves on.

Review asks senior class what's in store for the future

By Rebekah M. Shubin
Staff Writer

The River City Review polled 171 out of 215 seniors about what they planned to do after high school. The choices were 2-year college, 4-year college, trade school, military, full-time job, or other. Responses ranged from "Heald" to "jail."

59 said they would go to a 2-year college. The most popular colleges are American River College, Sacramento City College, and Cosumnes River College.

52 seniors want to go to a 4-year college. Choices ranged from U.C. Riverside, to Oregon State University. The favorites are U.C. Davis, U.C. San Diego, CSU Chico, and CSU Sacramento.

Trade schools are the future for six people. 19 are planning to join the military, with all branches covered. 25 members of the class of 1996 are going to work at jobs after high school. "Other" plans range from musician to pharmacist. Another is planning on some jail time, but no names, Peter.

Volleyball team delivers on promise

By Rebekah M. Shubin
Staff Writer

Coach Costanza had guaranteed a win and now the volleyball team had to live up to it. The guarantee was a win against Encina. The answer would come in the game. RC starters were Anna Vierra, Sherri Manasero, Celina Flores, Tammy Tiderencel, Mary Vela, and Cathy Leal.

RC got six points in a row to start off the game. Encina scored one, then RC scored eight in a row. Then Encina scored one point. The last point was made by Anna Vierra to win the game. River City was playing as one unit, not as individual players.

The Raiders started the second game hot and stayed hot! The Lady Raiders shut out Encina 15-0.

Could the promise be coming true? It seemed like it would happen. The girls were on a roll. The third game began with RC scoring one, and then Encina one. The second point was made with an ace by Mary Vela. RC scored again and the score was River City 3, Encina 1. The Raiders still had the ball and scored two more times. It was now 5 to 1. Encina came back and scored one, but the mighty Lady Raiders, came back hard and scored five straight. But Encina would not give up, and made four points. RC roared back scoring five to win the game with Anna Vierra making the last point of the season, with a spike over the net to win the third game.

After the game, the excitement was felt throughout the gym, River City had won, and won big. The players were elated and so was the crowd. Out with torn tendons, Wendy Wickliffe said, "I wanted to play!"

Coach Costanza said, "I guaranteed it, and they did it. I can't express how proud I am of the girls. They have improved so much over our last year."

Cathy Leal stated, "We had a helluva a season, and we kicked Encina's butt twice!"

Anna Vierra, Sherri Manasero, and Celina Flores commented, "We came together as a team, and we are going to miss it."

The Lady Raiders volleyball team had ten wins over all. Good Job, Raiders.

While in Woodland last Sunday he was taken around by several old friends among them being his son-in-law Tom Limnel and County Tax Collector Bob Woods. Although past his 91st year he doesn't hesitate to go around alone and is quite capable of taking care of himself even on the busy thoroughfares of Woodland.

THREE DIPHTHERIA CASES

Woodalnd Nov. 4.—There are but three cases of diphtheria in Yolo County and they are centered in one family in the Esparto district, according to a canvas of the doctors of the county here today. The health of the county is particularly good, although every precaution is being taken to prevent the spread of a diphtheria epidemic such as prevails in other parts of the valley.

WINE GRAPES BRING BIG PRICES IN THE EASTERN STATES

Last shipments of late grapes from the Concord district were made during the week when 15 cars of Cornichons were sent out over the San Francisco and Sacramento railroad, billed for points east of Chicago and New York. Wine grape shipments totaling more than 200 carloads were shipped east from Concord, Meinert, Alamo and Danville, and wine grape growers announce that all records for prices and quality of the grapes were broken. Average sales of the wine grapes netted the groewrs $150 per ton.

Several large vineyards had been uprooted following the announcement that the prohibition law would result in a slackening of the demand for wine grapes and much disappointment was expressed by the growers who acted on the impulse and destroyed their vineyards. With the high price promising to prevail again next season vine men were making active preparation for the most careful cultivation of their stock in order to increase the yield and improve the quality of the fruit.

BRYTE IMPROVEMENT CLUB WILL ENTERTAIN SATURDAY NIGHT

The first dance of this winter season will be given by the Bryte Improvement Club at the Public school building next Saturday evening.

This will be the first of a series of dances that the Improvement Club will give during the winter season for the purpose of raising funds to pay for a lot on which a Town Hall is to be built subsequently.

There are few communities that are united wholeheartedly as that of Bryte. Every resident of the district joins in when anything is to be done for the improvement of the district and although there are only a few who can afford to contribute lavishly everybody does his share with the result that remarkable things that have been accomplished in the district.

The dances given by the Bryte Improvement Club are mostly of the country type wherein everybody meets his friends and there are no petty jealousies or no attempts at style. Everybody is welcome as long as they behave themselves and the glad hand of good fellowship reaches out from every corner.

The series of dances to be given this year will wind up with a grand masquerade on New Year's night when it is estimated the necessary amount will be raised to pay for the lot for the Town Hall.

The committee of the Club having there dances under its charge consists of B. Anater R. Lee, E. C. White, C. Noyes, F. Murray, H. L. Freeze, A. Treloar and H. C. Bell.

At next Saturday nights dance there will be refreshments for the ladies and cigars for the men.

WILKES PLAYERS WILL PRESENT "REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM"

The Wilkes Players are delighting large audiences this week at the Seventh Street playhouse in the delightfully different comedy "The Ruined Lady," for the coming week an elaborate production of "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" will be the offering. The play is in five acts of strong dramatic heart interest and comedy of the rural New England type.

Perhaps the most lovable girl heroine of the last two decades is the little New England miss, Rebecca. The drama sets forth the adventures of Rebecca from the time of her arrival at the home of her aunts, Miranda and Jane Sawyer, to the dawn of womanhood and the birth of love in her heart. Her pranks, her charm, her adventures, her mishaps, the comedies of New England life.

Manager Parvin will present this play with a wealth of scenery and realistic effects. Dora Clemant, Brady Kline, Evelyn Hambly, Sydney Riggs and all the favorites will be seen in the cast.

OIL DRILLING HELD UP BY LOSS OF BIT

Woodland, Nov. 7.—Drilling on one of the old projects in the Western Yolo field has been halted by an unusual accident.

After getting down 1,200 feet, the crew lost a bit. Then a fishing expedition started. The work is now stopped to fish out the fishing apparatus.

RICE HARVESTING WILL BE COMPLETE THIS WEEK

Continuation of favorable weather conditions, which have prevailed in the last few weeks, will see at least 70 per cent of the 1921 rice crop in the warehouses. This is according to growers, who are now engaged earnestly in harvesting the crop.

The crop is reported spotted, and it is predicted by those in close touch with the situation, that it is doubtful if it will run 3,000,000 bags.

The early prediction was for a 4,000,000 bag crop, but threshing observations have disproved this. It is said that in many localities the rice has not headed as expected, and is running lighter per acre than predicted.

Unfavorable early growing conditions, and careless planting in which the use of poor seed was used, have combined, it is said, to materially reduce the yield this season.

There is said to be virtually no market at this time, and outside of one or two early sales at three cents or thereabouts, offers now are ranging materially below that figure. Rice growers declare the market has not yet been established, and no prediction as to a market is ventured now.

YOLO DOG OWNERS HAVE ORGANIZED CLUB

Woodland, Nov. 8.—If you have a hound dog that would like to chase the festive rabbit, the Superior California Coursing Club is anxious to have you become a member that the coming season may be full of sport for those who derive pleasure out of this particular game. A number of the local greyhound owners have gotten together and organized a club with the following membership: Kier Snavely, Dobie Strong, Lawrence Mezger, Ernest Mezger, "Brick" McNeill, John Walker, James Longrus, Phillip Hollingsworth, and H. C. Hinckley. Last year some good matches were held in and about Yolo county. This year it is planned to make the sport worth while to those who enjoy it. Snavely is head of the local club and will take in memberships.

BABY'S DEATH CAME AFTER MANY MONTHS' SICKNESS

Last Sunday the five mnoths old baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Johnson whose home is on Fourth St. near Mary St. passed away after a prolonged sickness.

The child had been delicate since his birth with no particular ailment except that it lacked vitality.

Although seven more children of Mr. and Mrs. Johnson survive it the parents feel his loss greatly. The baby's name was Rodney Johnson.

Last Tuesday the child was buried in the family plot at Grass Valley where the remains were shipped by the undertaking firms of Miller and Shelton of Sacramento.

A Sacramento jewder said the other day that Christmas shopping was already quite lively.

Why shouldn't it be? The United States mails are fruitful sources of revenue for the purchase of diamonds and other costly gifts.

Reports are being published that there is a possibility Mrs. Annette Adams may be named federal judge for the Northern District of California.

What a joke. Where are the children?

Fat?
Sick and Tired?

So was I. Overweight, suffering from chronic fatigue, experiencing hair loss, anxiety resulting in heart palpitations, and poor diet attached to a high stress work environment, blah, blah, blah. . . (Sound familiar?)

Well, today I have lost over 50 lbs., I weigh what I did as a high school junior nearly 18 years ago, the hair loss has stopped, the heart problems have ceased, my diet has greatly improved, and I no longer experience the high stress in virtually the same line of business.

This may not work for everyone, but if you want to know how to get off the track to a short life-span and one that may add years to a more productive and healthier life, simply call (800) 836-9180. I will send you a free tape, and personally return your call.

I wouldn't be offering this product to you if I hadn't used it for over 1 1/2 years and believed in it myself.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF ALBERTA E. BISHOP CASE NUMBER P95000194

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of ALBERTA E. BISHOP:

A PETITION has been filed by JOAN N. GOEDEL in the Superior Court of California, County of Yolo.

THE PETITION requests that JOAN N. GOEDEL be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests the decedent's WILL and codicils, if any, be admitted to probate. The will and any codicils are available for examination in the file kept by the court.

The PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will follow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Dec. 12, 1995 at 9:00 a.m. in Dept. 4, located at 725 Court Street, Woodland, CA 95695.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire before four months from the hearing date noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for petitioner:

other sexually communicated diseases which are carried by many of the city's streetwalkers. Suspects may be photographed by an officer if they stop to talk to a hooker, as well.

Hensley hopes the word will get out that it is no longer safe for men to shop for West Sacramento's prostitutes, and that the city is geared up for a long-term battle.

Buy attacking the demand for prostitutes, the city hopes to make a dent in the suppliers.

"If they don't have the males out there on the strip, they're going to either have to move or change their lifestyle," commented Hensley.

This week's planned decoy operation may help show whether the new approach is starting to pay off, after regional publicity in the print and broadcast news media. If the sweep nets fewer customers than it has in the past, it could be a sign that the approach is working, said Hensley.

The parcels include two vacant pieces of land north of the former Broderick Market site as well as a former clinic and a former church to the west of the former market.

The city targetted the properties for public acquisition in order to remove the "blight" they felt the land presented. This blight was viewed as an obstacle to the nearby Raley's Landing development, which has a deal pending for construction of a Money Store corporate headquarters near the Sacramento River.

That deal, which includes a development agreement with the city, will be part of a public workshop tonight (Nov. 29) in front of the West Sacramento City Council. The council will hold a formal public hearing on the agreement on Dec. 6..

Tonight's agenda

The West Sacramento City Council will hold a meeting tonight at 7 p.m. in council chambers, 2101 Stone Blvd. Agenda items include the following:

Presentation and discussion on amended and restated owner participation agreement, amended public facilities agreement, development agreements, and disposition and development agreements between the City of West Sacramento, Redevelopment Agency of the City of West Sacramento, Raley's, Teel Family Trust, and The Money Store.

Presentation and discussion of Ordinance 95-21 approving a development agreement between the City of West Sacramento and The Money Store, Inc. relating to the Raley's Landing Project and authorizing the mayor to execute the development agreement; and presentation and discussion of Ordinance 95-22 approving a development agreement between the City, Raley's and Teel for the Raley's Landing Project and authorizing the Mayor to execute the development agreement.
